OFFICERS.

CLARENCE E. CLARK, President.
JAY COOKE, Chairman Finance Committee.
HENRY D. COOKE, Vice-President.
EMERSON W. PETT, Secretary and Actuary.

The Company, National in its character, offer by reason of its Large Capital, Low Rates of Premiums and Now Issue, the most desirable form of insurance life yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium being largely reduced, are made equal to all the companies and the risks of the best Mutual Companies, and should the contingencies happen, the Policy-Holders will be entitled to share in the profits.

Several new and popular features are now presented, which recommend themselves to every acceptable to the public, such as the INCOME-PRODUCING POLICY, RETURN PREMIUM POLICY, &c. In the former, the policy is held as security for the income, payable at least, but will be received if living, after a period of a few years, an annual income, equal to the premium paid. In the latter, the Company agrees to return the "Premium" in case of death, if the premiums have been paid for a certain number of years.

The attention of persons contemplating insurance, is respectfully invited to the special advantages they already have in view, of the operation, variables offered by the National Life Insurance Company.

JOHN H. LYNDE, - - PROPRIETOR.

MONDAY, MARCH 29, 1869.

Congress is again earning the title of peace-maker. He proposes to take the advice and assistance of the Quakers in settling our vexed Indian difficulties. Many of the Friends are on the way to Washington to confer with the President at his own request. The Quakers have always enjoyed the confidence and respect of the Indians because they have always treated them as human beings. From the days of William Penn until now, they have done more than others to protect and civilize the luckless savages. They have never cheated them out of their lands, nor robbed them of their annuities, nor poisoned them with firewater. While we have not the fullest confidence in the peaceable inclinations of the western savages under any treatment, it is certainly worth while to make a thorough trial of our system, and for once attempt a more humane policy. But more than all, a more honest administration should, and no doubt will, be instituted. Ever since the supervision of Indian affairs has been in the hands of the Interior Department, the Indians have been the victim of systematic swindling through the agents. The Indians are not in any way, pardonable for the barbarities they have committed, but they have been strongly aggravated by the double dealing of those who were appointed to be their protectors. Under the policy of the Quakers, they would at least lose their ex-house-of-war, and the condition of affairs could certainly be no worse. The President is on the right road to peace.

The Maine Democrat believes itself of a column of denunciation against the Dissection Law as a partisan measure and as aimed at poor men. As the law originated with a Democratic, was made, with the help of Democrats, was supported by nearly all the Democratic papers, and is not calculated to operate against rich, more than poor men, and in fact hasn't much effect any way, the editor is evidently kicking an empty foot in order to frighten innocent, old ladies and gentlemen.

Anxious again circulating dispatches from Greenville, that after suffering intensely, he is again in usual health. It is announced he will speak at Knoxville, April 3d, at Nashville April 6th, and Memphis and Louisville on the 20th. So the Constitution is still to be lost with the people.

The Democracy are making a great ado about their defeat in Hollis and Waterboro'. The Maine Democrat thinks it is because the people of those towns have reduced their subscription list for that paper. Where our own interests are concerned, we are apt to transpose cause and effect. At this distance, we judge that the cause was a change in the sentiment of those towns, while the effect was to forget their morbid appetite for Democratic literature.

Dispatches have been received at Washington from General Warren and other commissioners who have been over the unfinished portion of Pacific Railroads. They are rather severe on the Central Pacific and indicate that their report will show the necessity for a considerable expenditure on this line, as well as on other branches, before it will equal to the requirements of the law.

Mr. Garfield has reported a bill in the House to provide for a new census to be concluded next year. The bill establishes a census bureau in the Department of the Interior, the head of which is to be appointed by the President. Assistant superintendent is to be appointed by the Secretary of the Interior for each Congressional District and Territory. The district superintendents are to employ all the subordinates they need for taking the census, which is to be taken on the first of April, 1870. The whole work is to be done in two months, and the final publication made, and the bureau closed by the first of May, 1872. The Secretary of the Interior, Attorney General and Census Commissioner, are to prepare and perfect schedules and tables to lay before Congress on the first Monday of December next. When the census is to be taken the population of each State is to be divided by 150,000, and the quotient will give the number of Representatives to which the State is entitled in Congress. This is expected to give 270 members in the House. The basis of representation hereafter is to be fixed at one member for 170,000 of population.

The following gentlemen compose the Congressional Committee on Mr. Lynch's resolution to investigate the cause of the decline of American Commerce:—Messrs. Lynch of Maine, chairman; Burlinton, of Massachusetts; Washburne of Wisconsin; Hotchkiss, of New York; Horsel, of Pennsylvania; Judd, of Illinois; Cobern, of Indiana; Calkins, of New York; Wells of Missouri.

Mr. Senator Sprague of Rhode Island has been making rather a foolish display of his self sufficient powers, by lecturing the Senate of the United States and the people upon their duties and errors. His first speech having been somewhat severely criticised by the people abroad for its absurd assumption and silly views, he followed it up in a days with a still more juvenile effort. He addressed a few words to the people in the galleries, whom he compared to an idiotic man who would heed no warning and expired in the ruins of a burning house. The gallery were disposed to treat him lightly. He preached to them further about trusting lawyers too much. His whole effort seems to have been inspired by disappointed ambition and conceit, and most of his ideas were worthy only of Andrew Johnson's followers. For a man who has been so highly honored and implicitly trusted, his course seems most singular. To illustrate the stability of his ideas, we quote from one of his speeches:

I am not of those who speak with great pride of the constitution of our fathers; or of our fathers and the laws they have given us; nor do I look with any very great pride, to the consequences which we have just witnessed, and to the precedents since the war, in our efforts to reconstruct government, or to settle the disturbances of the political, civil, and material affairs of the people. Two elements, one of them a legislative element, have entered into the construction and the prosperity of this people; one of them negro slavery, the other foreign immigration. It will not do for legislators or others, for one moment to think that this country has been developed at all, in consequence of the liberty given to individuals. Slavery stimulated the growth of cotton, and it became a staple by which and through which, your Northern country was developed through its railroads and internal improvements. Added to that was the immigration indeed by the circumstance, I remember from my father, the condition in which it a section, from which I come was prior to the development and increase of the results of slavery. I admit that politicians and the legal profession shall overything to do with both; but I cannot command a policy that results two great powers simply for their mutual destruction. If there is any merit in it it does not belong to my vision to secure.

The nomination of Moses H. Grinnell to be Collector of New York is very fair received by the press of that city. He is a native of New Bedford. In early life he was a Tammany Hall Democrat, but he long ago withdrew from that organization. In 1852 he was in favor of Daniel Webster for President, and signed a call for a great mass meeting at Tripler Hall, in New York, in Mr. Webster's interest, but he supported Gen. Scott after the latter's nomination at Baltimore. Mr. Grinnell was a Presidential Elector in 1856. Throughout the war for the Union he was strong in sympathy for the cause, and there was no readier purse in the time of his country's trial than Moses H. Grinnell. Since the war he has been an earnest and steadfast Republican, approving the reconstruction and favoring a majority in Congress. His experience and skill in business are very great, and his personal character stands above suspicion.

Congressional Matters.

Perhaps telegraphs from Washington say the Currency Bill, should it pass the Senate, will probably again fail in the House. The Eastern Senators regard with great disfavor the proposition to withdraw such a large amount of bank circulation from their sections as is proposed by the bill, while the Southern and Western Senators are clamorous for a more equal distribution of the banking circulation, claiming that it is impossible for the West and South to get along otherwise. Senator Hollins states that the whole national banking circulation of Louisiana does not exceed six millions.

The fate of the Tenure-of-Office Bill is again uncertain; to the great annoyance of the office seekers, who thought they were "out of the woods" when the Senate passed the amended bill approved by President Grant. The opportunity was not lost, however, to be lost by those Republicans who desire to see the President supported in the Executive champions, and they are now demanding that the Executive shall not be stripped of its constitutional prerogatives by the Senate.

Nye's Response to Sprague.—The witty Senator Nye of Nevada made some sharp points on Mr. Sprague in his reply to the gentleman's rambling attack on things in general, the other day. He said:

Sir, let it never enter the Senator's mind that the danger to a Republic has its direction of knowing too much. Danger lies in the direction of not knowing enough.

In reply to Sprague's assault upon the lawyers he said:

I hate the honorable lawyers will not hurt him. If he does not want to see them they will not charge any fees, and if he does they will not charge him enough to make it feel by him. I hope he will let the lawyers alone. They are telling class. They toil early and late, and read musty books, and they do not to learn how to set under and imitate, how to understand the Constitution, how to expound it, and how to defend the liberties and the rights of their fellow-men.

British Columbia.—The people of British Columbia are deaf to all invitations to join the fortunes with the Dominion of Canada, though they have been promised an intercontinental railroad if they would become a province. Eleven votes were cast against the proposition in a convention of sixteen members. The people prefer annexation to the United States, by whom they are now protected, and referring to this subject, the San Francisco Bulletin says British Columbia is geographically and materially a part of our country. Her coast is washed by an ocean which is becoming, and must continue, an American lake. It is bounded on the north and on the south by the United States, and nature has so broken up the surface and thrown up such mountains on her northern boundary that it is almost impossible for her inhabitants and whole population from any country fit for human habitation to travel in a westerly direction and never become popular. The idea of a railroad connecting a route for merchandise to the east has been a dream never entertained by a sane man. The Legislature has recently appropriated $2500 to encourage the immigration of families from the old country, which will be but a little to be taken up if they come, for wives by the farmers and lumbermen of Washington Territory as they find their wives who could for them.

The Mississippi Bill.—Great interest prevails in Congress and New York, in regard to the impending passage of Mr. Butler's bill to reorganize the political order of the State. The execution is not down on April 1st, but it must be desperate effort to stop the reorganization through the prospect does not look very promising.

Taxing Opinions.—Eastern Republicans denounced General Butler for his course in persuading or compelling the people of Louisiana to ratify the constitution, in spite of public opinion, which was strongly against it. Republicans who underwrote the Bob Butler law of Massachusetts, when apparently forced upon them by his opponents! (N. Y. Herald.)

Pilgrims.—The most active State for the purpose of emigrating South and investing in manufacturing enterprises, Ohio has a record, contributed to keep her citizens out of the service during the war, and to the men who entered it, and bills now before the Legislature have designed to raise money for the throat and capital stock of the R. R. Company recently organized, and to subscribe to the capital stock of the Ohio and Mississippi R. R. Another scheme proposes a complete factory and public sentiment is in favor of this plan.

A correspondent of the Gloucester Telegraph greatly exposed about our Marine Hospital use "cheated furniture" from the papers on our coast.

Information has just been received at the State Department that the Turkish Government has released Mr. Canfield, formerly of Ohio, Athens, Georgia, Mr. Canfield was employed in the filibustering expedition in Syria under the name of Bumar. It was captured by the Turkish authorities. It was released at the request of Mr. Seward.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.

The steamer Great Republic from Hong Kong, was telegraphed off the Heads at 5 o'clock P. M.

In the libel suit of Capt H. C. Winsor against the Evening Bulletin for $50,000 damages, the jury were absent about three minutes, and rendered a verdict for the defendants, the alleged libel consisting in stating that Capt. Winsor, while in command of the ship Intrepid on a voyage from New York in 1867, was dissipated, and treated his sailors brutally, and finally set one of his seamen adrift in an open boat off Easter Island. The man has never been heard from since and is supposed to have perished. About two hundred and fifty bags of delayed overland mail were received here this evening.

Ship Zealand, from Middleborough for Batavia, with coal, was burned at sea. The passengers and crew were rescued by the Dutch ship Ecrol.

The steamer Great Republic arrived last night from Hong Kong, 18th of February, and Yokohama, March 4th. She spoke the steamer Japan March 4th, and signalized the steamer China, March 17th. The steamer Herman was wrecked February 13th on an unknown reef outside of the harbor of Yokohama. Two hundred lives were lost. The vessel is a total loss and nothing whatever was saved. Mr. Chase, first officer, and White, one of the crew, were among the lost. The Herman was under the Japanese charter and had four hundred passengers for a port near Hokodadi.

The Washington treaty of 1868, between China and the United States, has been received at Shanghai, and only awaits a fitting opportunity of delivery to Prince Kung at Pekin.

Hong Kong dates to Feb. 19. The arrangement between Minister Burlingame and Lord Clarendon that hereafter all negotiations are to be conducted with the Central Government instead of the local authorities, and that before active war is inaugurated, all disputes are to be referred to the home government, give great satisfaction.

A BIG SWINDLE. Thursday of the 19th a man calling himself C. B. Ware of Bloomington, Illinois, called on Mr. Chas. A. Holmes of Fall River, desiring to purchase 15,000 or 20,000 cigars. His appearance and representations were apparently good, and Mr. Holmes sold him 20,000 cigars and received in payment a certificate of deposit in the Bloomington Bank, amounting to $500. The certificate appeared to be all right and properly signed by the Cashier of said bank, and Mr. Holmes gave Ware the balance, $661, in greenbacks. The fellow then left, stating that he was going to Bristol and thence to New York. Mr. Holmes deposited the certificate with the First National Bank for collection, and it was forwarded to Bloomington the same evening. On Monday he received a dispatch from the Cashier of the Bloomington Bank that the certificate was a forgery. On Tuesday Mr. Holmes came to Boston, where he ascertained that the cigars had been shipped to Chicago in a sealed car, there to be delivered to the freight agent of the Illinois Central Railroad. A detective to the Chief of Police at that point, to seize them on their arrival was forwarded. The Fall River News says that a letter from the Cashier of the Bloomington Bank states that certificates to the amount of $12,500, forged by the same person had already been presented to the bank by different parties, who had been swindled in a similar manner. The rascal is probably one of a gang of scoundrels who are operating in this way in various parts of the country, and business men generally should be on the look out for them.

CAPTURE OF A MAINE VESSEL. The brig Mary Lowell, whose capture with a valuable cargo of arms and munitions of war has been reported by telegraph, was owned in Eastport and was captured by the Spanish war vessel Andalusia, while in charge of British Custom House officers who had taken possession of her on a charge of carrying supplies to the Cuban insurgents. She was within three quarters of a mile from the inner harbor of Rogged Island, which she was about entering with a pilot on board. Captain Nickerson has gone to New York. The Consul has represented the matter to Captain General Dulce.

AN ASCONDING BANKER. Mr. C. Dorwin, of the firm of Dorwin & Co., bankers in Montreal, absconded from that city a few days ago, leaving liabilities of $250,000, of which amount, $150,000 is due to parties in New York and Boston. It is believed he took with him less than $70000. He made his appearance at Hinesburg, Vt., where he has relatives on Monday, the 16th inst. and seemed completely overcome by remorse for his unfortunate and criminal transactions, and expressed a desire to make the best arrangements he could with his creditors. To one of them, the Burlington Press says, he in interview with him on Saturday, he failed to conclude any arrangement with him. He has declared his willingness to return to Montreal and give up all his property, worth about $30,000, to his creditors, on condition that he shall not be prosecuted criminally.

TRADE. Cotton is worth from 3.75 to 3.[illegible]; dried apples [illegible] iron, 14 to 15, and some extra lots in demand; energy have been in demand at [illegible] per pound here have sold from 15 to 17 cents. The above prices are paid in cash only for produce from market teams.

We learn by the Boston market report that Jackson potatoes have settled down to [illegible] cents per bushel, and are plenty; medium, and yellow-eyed beans dull at 3.00.

—Some one suggest of a ship having an idea of legislating the greatest good for the greatest number, proposes that the City Council establish comfortable seats along the Kimbuskegg Bridge, for the accommodation of those who warm that sunny perch with their citizenship. The same irresponsible individual remarks that he has visited the studios in the great cities and seen double extra, AA, super, century, but for the real original, industriously chiselled Carrara century, from which the ships of Tyre are yet unwasted, give him a view on our street corners when the spring sun knocks upon the vernal pickles and thaws out the stumps and leaches of the human species.

—At a meeting of the Directors of the Eastern Insurance Company, held on Saturday last, the following officers were chosen—President and Treasurer—Thomas J. Stewart.

Secretary—Joseph W. Frayer.

—We understand that Messrs J. S. Sanborn & Co., of Boston, will furnish all the coffee for the Fair in behalf of the Children's Home. Mr. T. L. Bond also sends one barrel of his famous oyster crackers.

—Wheeling in the city, sleighing in the country, and slush everywhere.

—Spiritual temperance meetings are being held in Biddeford.

—The Observer states that two men have been in Dover attempting to pass counterfeit money to the traders.

—The Belfast Age says that Frank Berry has sold his fast horse "Black Walnut" to parties in Massachusetts.

—The Brunswick Telegraph editor's eyes are large. A raw flake of snow recently theuzed of platters!

—The American, thinks the new Town Hall in Ellsworth will be completed in May. It will cost upward of $40,000.

—Democratic gains in our local elections are among the things that might have been under circumstances that would have given them more pleasure. We have gained a number of towns in the western part of the State, and even York seems to have "gone back on" them.

—The Biddeford Journal of last week says as the last mail train was reached Kennebunkport on Monday, a team loaded with about twenty large logs, got stuck on the track. The cowcatcher caught the load between the bolsters, and threw the logs and sled clear from the track. The consequence was seriously bothered in the train. One of the horses was killed and the other somewhat injured.

—Very high water, on Fryer's Point, below Simpson's Wharf, on Monday last, and quite a freshet. No damage was done to the cargo, and it was all discharged before another tide, and the vessel was get off without assisting so much damage as was at first supposed, says the Republican.

—Fire broke out in Cushing early Saturday morning in the tenement of Mr. Chuskey Cole's tailoring establishment, totally destroying their store together with the store of Perkins & Co., grocers, and Clark, boot and shoes. The dwelling house of Captain Hanson, occupied by Captain Pike, was also burned. Perkins & Co's goods were mostly saved, but badly damaged. Clark's stock was saved. Miss Parker's, millinery, Harper's, apothecary, and C. W. Tinker's goods, were removed. Cause of the unknown.

—The Argus says that a very full discussion of matters concerning the proposition of having the State and New England Fairs held in Portland this year, was held between the Trustees of the State Agricultural Society and a Committee from the Portland City Council at the United States Hotel. The Trustees of the New England Society will be conferred with at once and estimates made as to what they would require of Portland, did they come there.

—Oliver Optic's Magazine, "Our Boys and Girls," No. 118, for the week ending April 2d, is particularly attractive. It contains a finely engraved steel portraits of President Grant and Vice President Colfax, a full page allegorical picture of the Inauguration of President Grant, by the celebrated artist, Thomas Nast. Oliver Optic commences a new story,—"Oh Time, or, the Young Captain of the Yeayga Steamer." Alice Cary contributes a poem,—"Suppose." Geo. M. Baker has an original dialogue, entitled "The Greelon Bend." Mrs. J. G. Austin tells "The Story of Minnie." There is a timely article on "Velocipedes," and "Road-Work", and "Letter-Bag," are full of all sorts of puzzles, rebuses, &c., all handsomely illustrated, and all to be had for six cents. Terms are $2.00 year, or $1.25 for six months. Lee & Shepard, Boston, are the publishers.

THE ALASKA SCRAMBLE. The San Francisco Bulletin, says the Alaska trading fever is raging quite extensively in that city. It being considered certain that Congress will not grant any trading monopolies, wide-awake parties are taking advantage of the prospect. Every schooner which is found seaworthy enough for the voyage, has been taken up for an Alaska venture, while several old vessels are being overhauled for the same purpose. Whaling, fur trade, barter with Indians, anything in the way of a commercial nature in the region of Alaska, is now the rage.

NOT RESPONSIBLE. The Supreme Court of New York gave a decision this week which was quite important in its bearings upon the responsibility of banks and bankers for unknowingly purchasing stolen property of value. In this case it was decided that a banker who had taken a gold certificate for five thousand dollars, which he had been notified was stolen, was not responsible for the amount to the owner who had been robbed of the certificate, because the notifica-
